Environmental Education at its best!

Pollutants are harmful to human health, the air we breathe, the water we drink, the contamination in our soil, and the wildlife in our ocean.

Examples of Plastic and Styrofoam Pollutants:

- single-use plastics
- disposable plastic utensils
- plastic straws
- plastic shopping bags
- Styrofoam coffee cups
- polystyrene foam takeout containers
- plastic stirrers
- cotton swabs.
- plastic water bottles

Examples of Household Hazardous Waste:

- anti-Freeze
- batteries
- consumer electronics
- fluorescent light bulbs
- paint
- pesticides and herbicides
- used motor oil

The EPA defines a household hazardous waste as, “leftover household products that contain corrosive, toxic, ignitable, or reactive ingredients.” These items, when improperly disposed of, can cause poisoning, harm to the ground water, air quality, and soil quality.
